2013–2014

REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

MICHAEL PETRECCA
Board Chair

Dear Friends of CAPA,

Since becoming Board Chair in 2006, I have seen CAPA face many challenges and changes, and am proud of the work this organization does and has done for the Columbus community. Whether it's bringing the world's talent to Columbus' stages, producing an annual summer festival, providing shared services to resident arts organizations, or preserving and maintaining downtown's most beautiful historic theatres, CAPA is engaged, active, and most importantly, cares about Columbus.

Since 2008, CAPA has added management of the historic Lincoln Theatre (2009) and the Jeanne B. McCoy Community Center for the Arts (2013), as well as production of downtown Columbus' Festival Latino (2009) to its portfolio. I have seen each entity flourish under CAPA's care and fulfill their mission and services to the community.

CAPA has also continued to provide shared services to an expanding list of local arts organizations, often proving to be the key factor in keeping them alive and a functioning component of Columbus' arts infrastructure. We have gone from servicing three local arts organizations in 2008–09 to seven organizations in 2013–14, including the Columbus Symphony, Opera Columbus, and the Drexel Theatre, all of which were facing financial straits that put them in danger of extinction.

What CAPA does for central Ohio is a labor of love for the city in which we all live, work, and play, and I am delighted to share our 2013–14 accomplishments with you in this annual report. I hope you enjoy reading about the exciting and rewarding work which CAPA continues to do on a daily basis, and join me in marveling at how far CAPA and central Ohio have come in just a few years.

On behalf of our board, staff, and volunteers, we thank you for your continued confidence and support, and look forward to boldly tackling the new challenges of many years ahead with you!

OUR MISSION

We bring the world to our stages, enrich lives, and create community through our mission to:

Present and produce artistic programming of the highest quality to serve and educate diverse audiences and feature renowned artists of all cultures

Operate and maintain world-class performance venues

Strengthen our arts communities by providing facilities for resident companies, and through partnership and collaboration, support those organizations

Bolster the economy of the community we serve

OUR HISTORY

Established in 1969, CAPA was formed to save downtown's historic Ohio Theatre from the wrecking ball. After an extensive CAPA-led renovation, the magnificent 1928 movie house is now celebrated as a vanguard achievement in the field of theatre rehabilitation and downtown redevelopment, and has been declared a National Historic Landmark and the "Official Theatre for the State of Ohio."

Today, CAPA also owns and operates the Palace Theatre (1926) and Southern Theatre (1896), and manages the Capitol Theatre, Riffe Center Studio Theatres, Lincoln Theatre (1928), and the Jeanne B. McCoy Community Center for the Arts in New Albany.

For more than 40 years, CAPA has brought world-class performances to the communities it serves, and also produces the annual CAPA Summer Movie Series, the longest-running classic film series in the nation, and Festival Latino.

CAPA also provides back-office services to a variety of local arts organizations, enabling them to focus on producing art while CAPA concentrates on providing operational and financial efficiencies. Currently, CAPA provides services to the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, CATCO, Drexel Theatre, Franklin Park Conservatory, Lincoln Theatre Association, McCoy Center for the Arts, and Opera Columbus.

"I began volunteering at CAPA for the opportunity to see shows but quickly learned that being a volunteer is so much more. The combination of theatre, interacting with people, and community service has been very fulfilling for me. I particularly enjoy greeting our guests and helping to set a positive tone for their theatre experience."

My CAPA volunteer family, our beautiful theatres and the wealth of different performances that CAPA provides keep me coming back."

Kathy has been a CAPA volunteer for 11 years. During the past two years, she has volunteered the most hours, logging over 800 each year.

"I could volunteer other places and be one of many, but at CAPA, they care about each volunteer as an individual."

CAPA PRODUCES

Summer Movie Series 2013

The CAPA Summer Movie Series, the longest-running classic film series in America, is a highly anticipated summertime tradition in Columbus. In the 2013–14 season, more than 28,000 patrons attended screenings of their favorite classic films in the grandeur of the historic Ohio Theatre.

SPOTLIGHT

“I’ve been a resident of Columbus for a long time, and I’ve seen the difference that CAPA has made since it has taken over the production of Festival Latino, such as improvements in safety, the quality of acts, and participation from the Latino community. The Festival continues to grow strategically—not only in terms of attendance, but also in the deliberate and quality performances that enhance the safe, family-friendly atmosphere.”

CAPA has had a Spanish/Hispanic initiative for a long time through its presentation of the Caliente Series, and taking over the production of Festival Latino is helping this initiative to grow.”

RAMONA REYES

Chair

“If you like the arts, you like CAPA. From the Broadway plays to the variety of concerts there’s something for everyone.”

Ramona Reyes is a human resources professional at Nationwide Insurance. She sits on the Columbus City Schools Board of Education and is an active member of the Latino community. This year, she served as chair of the Festival Latino Steering Committee.

Festival Latino 2013

An annual Columbus tradition for 18 years, Festival Latino is the largest Hispanic event in Ohio, providing a two-day, family-friendly, free event that celebrates Latin culture with music, food, fashion, art, and children’s activities. Success of the event under CAPA’s management prompted an expansion in 2013, not only including its original location in Genoa Park but also stretching across the Rich Street bridge into Bicentennial Park. In CAPA’s fifth year as the festival’s producer, attendance rose 60% from 75,000 attendees in 2012, to 120,000 attendees in 2013.

Educational Outreach

Through the generous support of Honda, CAPA was able to present a five-show, educational series in the 2013–14 season. Specifically geared for grades K-8, the productions offered $5 tickets which included a post-performance question and answer session with the cast (whenever possible) and study guides that correlate to the Ohio academic content standards for fine arts and other subjects.

History, literature, science, and math were brought to life on stage for more than 3,600 students in this special series which included:

The Math Maniac Show
Madeline and the Bad Hat
Dr. Insecta's Incredible, Unforgettable
Bug Lab Experience
Kid Power's Operation Lunch Line 3-D
My Heart in a Suitcase

Following each performance, CAPA solicited feedback from teachers and parents in regards to any improvements that could be made for the following season.

Additionally, CAPA offered a special student performance of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol which was attended by more than 2,500, and a special free performance of Mr. Blueshoes for more than 400 fourth graders in the Marysville City School District.

Over the 2013–14 season, CAPA gave away more than 1,000 tickets and provided busing for Columbus City Schools' students and teachers.

Children's Services

Pearline Fagain-Owens is President & CEO of The Grant Writer, LLC. She also devotes her time to community service as a volunteer for Franklin County Children's Services.

"As a volunteer, I often take children to see CAPA productions. CAPA's Partnership Program with Franklin County Children's Services [FCCS] sponsors our visits, and the CAPA productions have proven to be very inspiring for the children.

FCCS provides many opportunities for both mentors and mentees, but the partnership with CAPA is the most impactful because it sparks the children's imaginations. Taking the kids to the productions gives me a chance to show them other parts of the world without leaving the city!"
