About SIR NOFACE

About Chad Calek

Known for his unique visual story-telling style and poetic narration, Calek is best perhaps known for his autobiographical documentary American Ghost Hunter, which became the only independent paranormal documentary to reach #1 on HULU as the most-watched movie in America. It is currently the #3 most-watched paranormal film of all-time on HULU.

As a paranormal investigator, Calek has spent more than 25 years investigating the world's most haunted locations, searching for answers to the bizarre, the mysterious, and the unexplained. While known for capturing some of the most compelling evidence in the history of the paranormal field, Calek has also developed a reputation as a staunch "debunker" who has discovered rational explanations to many of the world's most famous paranormal legends.

Calek first burst onto the national scene in 2008 as the outspoken and often censored co-star and director of what would ultimately become a five-season run of A&E's hit reality series "Paranormal State." His on-screen popularity led to A&E's spin-off special, "The Ghost Prophecies," documenting Calek's unique life as the only known award-winning professional filmmaker who doubles as a professional paranormal investigator. Calek served as its executive producer, director, writer, editor, and on-screen focus which also co-starred his best friend, fellow filmmaker, and paranormal investigative partner, Justin Holstein. "The Ghost Prophecies" drew 1.6 million viewers, making it the highest-rated spin-off special of 2010.

In addition to the "SIR NOFACE LIVES TOUR," Calek's A Blood Red Sky documentary will also be released in 2017, as well as the Verizon GO90 platform release of the "Ghosted" series for which Calek serves as executive producer and on-screen co-star.
